FutureCMS 3.0 content management system is suitable for all size businesses as the homepage engine. It gives you the possibility to create unlimited number of subpages in different languages. Our third generation homepage engine is oriented to content - it means, you can start building the structure right away without owning the custom design. We have a strong belief that content must dictate the design not vice-versa.

FutureCMS 3.0 features:

- create unlimited number of independent subpages
- create a content with editor similar to MS Word
- add photos and videos to homepage
- use different design templates for each single subpage
- automatic indexing of content and search engine
- unlimited depth menus
- get detailed realtime statistics about page visitors and IP addresses
- use RSS feeds import/export
- create feedback forms
- news commenting engine
- publish your document files to web
- banner rotation and statistics
- sitemap xml protocol support
- generation of automatic sitemaps
- compatibility with Internet Explorer and Mozilla Firefox

Future Systems OÜ is Estonian company established in 1999. During many years we have finished hundreds of successful projects starting from small homepages to large and complicated web-based information systems.

Content Management system is one of our core products since 2001, when we started offering our first FutureCMS release to the clients.

FutureCMS is the engine for many homepages in Estonia, Finland, Sweden, Latvia and Lithuania. We are offering services to all European Union countries.

One of the main advantage over our competitors is very well designed user interfaces, which are making our software learning-curve very short.
